

6 REVELATIONS FROM HUGH GRANT

The star of Did You Hear About the Morgans? greets 2010 with a rum drink—no smiling!

A REALLY EMBARRASSING MOMENT

Some friends in London recently moved into a new house, and I went to visit them. I got there, and instead of ringing the bell I thought it would be funny to make sheep noises (an in-joke with us) through the letter box. I did it very loud and for a very long time before anyone came to the door. It was the wrong house. The owner was surprised to see me there.

HE'LL TOAST HIS NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION WITH A...

Dark 'n' Stormy—Gosling's Bermuda rum, spicy ginger beer, lime juice, lots of ice, gigantic glass. [What is his resolution?] Never to smile. Someone told me it made me look fat.

LAST THING HE GOOGLED

Everyone I meet. It used to be when I got home. Now it is while I'm talking to them.

MOST RECENT SUNBURN

Every summer I burn the tips of my ears playing golf, and every summer my dermatologist lops another piece off before declaring it harmless. I will be earless by 2012.

MAKES HIM CRINGE

The moment when people wave their phones in the air at rock concerts.

FAVE CHILDHOOD TOY

Action Man. My brother and I liked to pull his limbs off and set them on fire. Or my girl cousin's Sindy doll. It had a melted foot, but I always liked looking up its skirt.

Reported by Danielle Dubin